BRING YOUR FLUTE!

The music for this workshop is a complement to our warm up routine. It presents and explores uplifting, musically stimulating new resources for students and teachers.

Few things in musical life are more stimulating and enjoyable than playing duets with friends or a teacher. It's even better when the music is both fun to play and specifically designed for education; a combination not easy to find. Working on sound, harmonic recognition, rhythmical awareness and style, we discover new Latin American pieces in genres selected and developed for their educational potential and their musical interest, in a dynamic presentation.

Interacting with traditional music forms from various cultures from the very beginning of our instrumental practice is a great motivator, a powerful source of interesting educational challenge through variety.

Collective involvement encouraged.
