Undaunted: women, culture, and shifting views in the Fife and Drum community

Sunday February 16, 9:45 - 10:35 | Sully

with Larissa Sasgen and the Fifes and Drums of Colonial Williamsburg and guests of the fife and drum community

The Fife and Drums of Colonial Williamsburg together with guests from other fife and drum corps throughout the country will reflect on the involvement of women within their community, with different experiences of women from being continuously involved from childhood, to the cultural shift required for an all-male group to become co-ed. Our common thread is our love of martial music and the drive to play and teach others about it. Music indicative of each group as well as core classics will be presented with arrangements by women of the community.
